Farmers and Consumers Bulletin

VOLUME 56 NO. 12 DECEMBER 2008

SPARKS' REMARKS

Commissioner
Ron Sparks

No matter which candidate you voted for in the last presidential election, "change" has been on almost everyone's mind across the nation. With 2009 just around the corner, change is sure to come, but at this point what it will bring to us here in Alabama is still unsure.

In the New Year, it is my hope for Alabama's consumers that gas prices remain low, that food prices don't keep going higher, and that farmers can continue to grow their crops, get them to market and stay in business. I am optimistic that the economy will heal over the next several years and some of the issues we have faced will be less of a burden.

The Department staff works extremely hard to protect consumers on a daily basis, but it becomes particularly important as food and fuel prices rise. The average American family becomes frustrated or angry as they fill their tanks with $4 gas to go to work and provide food for their family at dinner time, and emotions can run deep and tempers can quickly flare. Gas prices have fallen fast in the last month, but food and other goods' prices have not followed suit. At this point, farmers are not in any bet-

ANNUAL TURKEY PARDON

The Department of Agriculture & Industries' Weights and Measures Division has just made it through one of their busiest seasons, but they aren't showing signs of slowing down.

Every year in the spring, oil prices go up in anticipation of a rising demand for fuel as people across the U.S. prepare to fill their tanks for summer travel. At this time each year, the Weights and Measures Division gets busier responding to consumer complaints. This past summer was no exception, with prices going over $4 per gallon at the pumps, inspectors were diligent in making sure that all gas pumps across the state were checked and all complaints were investigated.

Most people are familiar with the state of Alabama sticker you see on a gas pump or grocery scale, but you may not know that the duties of the division are far more reaching. This division is responsible for enforcing weights and measures laws by inspecting gasoline pumps, grocery store scales, weights, large vehicle scales, and other measuring devices for accuracy to ensure that consumers are getting their money's worth.

"The Department of Agriculture & Industries' Weights and Measures Division has the 2nd highest workload of all the states, yet they operate with the smallest team nationwide," said Commissioner Ron Sparks. "They deserve recognition for all they do to protect consumers. They are extremely efficient and I credit them for their teamwork and Division Director Randy Fulmer for his leadership."

The Department houses a metrology laboratory which tests and calibrates the weights and test measures used by industries, businesses, and weights and measures inspectors to test scales, pumps, and other devices used for the sale of goods based on weight, measure, or count. Metrology is the science of weights and measures or of measurement. The metrology lab has the responsibility of overseeing the use of the state's physical standards of mass and volume, which are traceable to and related directly to the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) in Gaithersburg, Maryland.

With cold and flu season around the corner, you may also be interested to know that the scales used at your local pharmacies to dispense medications are calibrated with weights certified through the Department's.

2008 Century & Heritage Farm Recipients

Since the Century and Heritage Farm program began in 1976, the Department of Agriculture and Industries has recognized more than 450 farms in Alabama. This year twelve farms qualified for the program. Each farm has been in operation as a family farm for at least one hundred years and reflects interesting and important historical and agricultural qualities. These farms demonstrate a durability and love of the land that is the heritage of the State of Alabama.

All recipients receive a certificate that is signed by the Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries and the Governor, officially designating their farm as an Alabama Century and/or Heritage Farm.

The farms that received their designations this year are listed below by county. Several families received their certificates at county Farm-City Banquets last month. If you feel your family farm qualifies for this program be sure to check the Alabama Farmers and Consumers Bulletin next summer for an announcement that applications are available for the 2009 Century and Heritage Farm program. For more information, please feel free to contact Amy Belcher at 334/240-7126.

Alabama's Weights and Measure lab a two year certification. Typically these certifications are given in one year increments, but due to the outstanding work of our staff and their accuracy the lab was certified for two years.

One of the latest additions to the weights and measures lab was the large volume prover stand. We now have the ability to calibrate up to 1,500 gallon provers, the largest allowable prover by NIST. With the use of this 12 foot stand we calibrate 25 gallons to 1,500 gallon provers safely and accurately while cutting the certification time.

The services provided by the Weights and Measures inspectors are regulated by NIST. To stay in compliance with NIST, the Department must maintain meticulous records of their work and complete extensive reports. This documentation along with year round spot check calibration tests ensures that the Department meets the international standard set by the original standard in France.

For more information about the Weights & Measures Division call 334/240-7133.

CONTINUOUS 'WHIP' SIGN-UP

State Conservationist Gary Kobylski recently announced a continuous sign-up for the Fiscal Year 2009 Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program (WHIP). Land eligible for WHIP includes: Private agricultural land, non-industrial private forest land, and tribal land.

The WHIP program, administered by NRCS, provides both technical and financial assistance to individuals interested in establishing and improving wildlife habitat on private land. NRCS will work with participants to develop a wildlife habitat development plan which becomes the basis of the financial assistance agreement. Conservation minded landowners are encouraged to participate.

For more information, contact your local Natural Resources Conservation Service office, listed in the telephone book under U.S. Department of Agriculture.

ter shape to pass any savings along to consumers. Farmers still earn about 19¢ of every dollar consumers spend on food and he or she must still pay production costs out of that same 19¢ before they see a profit.

How can we help ourselves and our families get through this trying time? First, remember what is most important-our families. Don't let the financial crisis reap a long term effect on your children or dependent parents. Knowing your family is healthy, safe and loved can help us pull through hard times.

Continue to be consumer conscious by reading labels of food products and medicine and getting proper nutrition. Staying healthy not only means your body may be able to handle life's stresses better, but it can mean financial savings in the future. Health problems, especially if you do not have insurance, can lead to financial disaster.

This year traveling may be at a minimum for many families and gifts may be few. Unemployment is extremely low in Alabama, but many of us may still have to struggle to buy the latest toys or gadgets for our families this holiday season. Because of this, it is a perfect time for us to feel grateful for what we do have. There are many ways to bond with those you love and my wish for you is that you and your families will find many and enter 2009 stronger, healthier and optimistic.

CLARIFICATION REGARDING BIRDS LISTED FOR SALE IN THE BULLETIN

There has been some confusion regarding the statement issued last month concerning the listing of birds for sale in the Alabama Farmers and Consumers Bulletin. Only agricultural birds, not pet or psitticine birds, should be listed for sale in the Bulletin. You do not have to be a participant in the NPIP (National Poultry Improvement Plan) program in order to advertise birds. If you need clarification as to whether your bird qualifies as an agricultural bird, you may use the NPIP book as a reference because it lists all poultry and agricultural type species. Examples of agricultural or poultry type birds are: chickens (all breeds of standard and bantam sizes), turkeys, ducks, peafowl, geese, quail, pheasant, guineas, chukars, swans, etc. For further clarification, or if you would like to participate in the NPIP program (a voluntary disease monitoring program for producers who have their own breeder birds) please contact Dana Brindley-Bennett at dana.bennett@agi.alabama.gov or 334/240-6590.

PRODUCT SPOTLIGHT

O Kafés! Coffee Roasters was started in 2005 by Kirk Summers and Erin Isbell in Tuscaloosa with the intention to bring the best coffee on the market to consumers while remaining environmentally and socially conscious. O Kafés!

pronounced like "confess" without the "n" simply means "coffee" in Modern Greek. Kirk and Erin chose this name because it represents a simple, hand crafted quality that is still found in traditional European coffee houses today. The logo, a sleeping cat curled around a coffee cup, suggests the paradoxical nature of the coffee experience indicating both its relaxing and invigorating qualities.

One of Kirk and Erin's goals is to produce food locally in order to ensure freshness and reduce their carbon footprint. After a few years of successfully selling coffee at the Pepper Place Farmer's Market in Birmingham, O Kafés! has moved into the nearby Martin Biscuit Building and opened a retail and roasting business. O Kafés! has been featured in the Birmingham News' City Scene as one of twelve "must do" things in Birmingham. O Kafés! Coffee is all 100% Fair Trade and organically grown.

Kirk and Erin obtained the Trans-Fair USA certification for their coffee which means their product comes with the guarantee that farmers growing the coffee will receive fair wages and benefits for their labor, as well as practice environmentally sound farming techniques.

For more information or to order O Kafés! Coffee, go to www.okafes.com or give them a call at 205/616-8450. For information on other Alabama products, go to www.agi.alabama.gov.

Cash For Cabbages

Commissioner Ron Sparks recently presented 4th grader Noah Vick of Satsuma, a $1,000 scholarship from Bonnie Plant Farm for raising a 15 lb. cabbage. Plants are distributed to 3rd graders every January and the student who grows the largest cabbage in their class at each school is entered in a drawing to win the scholarship.

"Bonnie Plant Farm's Cabbage Program is a great way to get kids interested in agriculture," said Sparks. "Not only does it provide a great educational resource for the kids and help them plan for their future education, the kids really enjoy growing their cabbages and competing for the scholarship."

The program has grown across the U.S. to include 48 states. In 2005, they added a presentation of a $1,000 scholarship to the winner of the competition in each state.

The 3rd Grade Cabbage Program is free to students and schools. Once a teacher enrolls the class in the program, Bonnie Plant Farm will contact the school and deliver plants. For more information, visit: <http://bonnieplants.com> and click on the tab for the 3rd Grade Cabbage Program, or call Ellis Ingram at 334/738-3104.

COOL KIDS COOK PROGRAM

Pictured above are center, Commissioner Ron Sparks and Judge Johnny Hardwick along with several Cool Kids Cook students who prepared the meal for the fundraiser that evening.

Recently Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries Ron Sparks attended a fundraiser for the Cool Kids Cook program. COOLKIDSCOOK.org is faith based non-profit organization created to promote hands-on cooking classes for children ages 5 to 16 years old. Cool Kids Cook recognized the combined need for an effective method to fight against childhood obesity, type 2 diabetes, high cholesterol and quality cost effective after-school activities. The Cool Kids Cook seven-week program not only teaches children how to cook, but also provides behavior-focused nutritional lessons; focusing on families eating together and bringing cooking back into the homes.

Commissioner Sparks continues to be an advocate for improving children's nutrition to help combat childhood obesity in our state because the percentage of children and teenagers who are overweight has tripled in the past 30 years, according to the Center for Disease Control. One-third of overweight students are so heavy they will probably have serious health problems later in life. Of course it's not just young people who are getting heavier -- it's all Americans. U.S. Surgeon General Dr. David Satcher is so concerned about childhood obesity that he has declared it an "epidemic".

A Spirit of Cooperation

Over the past two years there has been a movement to create a statewide marketing co-op that caters to rabbit, goat and sheep growers in Alabama. On October 30, 2008, the Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries hosted the first Alabama A+ Agricultural Marketing Cooperative meeting. Growers from across the state converged in Montgomery to discuss the future of rabbit, goat and sheep marketing and production. As part of a collaborative effort, not only has the co-op recruited the support of the agriculture deans at Alabama's three land-grant universities; Tuskegee, Auburn and Alabama A&M, but has garnered the support of USDA's Natural Resource Conservation Service and its nine RC&D Councils, the Alabama Farmers Federation (ALFA) and the Alabama Agricultural Land-Grant Alliance (AALGA). Commissioner Ron Sparks continues to be committed by allocating staff and resources to assist the growers to develop an alternative meat industry in Alabama. Pictured above are the members of the Alabama A+ Agricultural Marketing Cooperative board of directors, seated from left to right: Scott Rowe, Jimmy Jones, J. C. Holt, Alan Dison; standing from left to right: Jimmy Parker, Bill Johnson, Commissioner Sparks, Jacob Waddy, Charlie Thompson, Keith Johnson and Paul Young.
